CHICAGO-KENT COLLEGE OF LAW

HISTORICAL

THIS College was established in 1887 as the Chicago Evening Law Class. The Chicago College of Law was an outgrowth of this class and was incorporated as an educational corporation of Illinois in the year 1888. It was the Law Department of Lake Forest University from 1889 to 1902, when the University was reorganized as a college and the professional schools became independent. Kent College of Law was incorporated under the laws of the State of Illinois in 1892. In 1900 the two colleges were consolidated and have since been known as the Chicago-Kent College of Law.

The Chicago College of Law was one of the first evening law schools to be established in the United States, and immediately attained great success, due largely to the devoted labor and self-sacrifice of its first dean, Hon. Joseph M. Bailey, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the State of Illinois. Upon his death in 1896, Hon. Thomas A. Moran, presiding justice of the Appellate Court of the First District of Illinois, recognized as one of the foremost lawyers of the state, became dean of the college. After his death in 1904 he was succeeded as dean by the Hon. Edmund W. Burke, former justice of the branch Appellate Court of the First District of Illinois, whose able administration continued until his death, September 7, 1918. At that time Webster H. Burke, formerly assistant dean, became acting dean and in 1920 dean of the college.

Chicago-Kent College of Law is not a proprietary institution. It is independent, endowed and non-sectarian. In 1907 it was incorporated under the laws of the State of Illinois as an educational institution and not for pecuniary profit.

The Council of the Section of Legal Education of the American Bar Association has placed Chicago-Kent College of Law upon the Association's list of approved schools.

ADMINISTRATION

The College is governed by a board of seven trustees who are advised and assisted by the executive committee appointed by said board.

LOCATION

Chicago-Kent College of Law owns and exclusively occupies its own building, located in the downtown district of Chicago at No. 10 North Franklin Street, near the courts, the law offices and the principal transportation lines. It is easy of access from all parts of the city and suburbs. It also owns the Chicago-Kent College of Law Library Building which contains the library reading room and faculty chambers and is located at No. 12 North Franklin Street adjoining the College Building.

To the good business judgment of its trustees, the self-sacrificing devotion of its former dean, Hon. Edmund W. Burke, and the generosity of its alumni and others, the college owes its home. The building is completely fire-proof, especially well designed for college purposes, and has installed therein efficient heating and ventilating systems. It contains lecture halls, an adequate library, reading room for students' use, faculty consultation and study rooms and the general and private offices of the administrative officers.

ADVANTAGES

Situated in the very center of the great business district of Chicago, the college affords its students opportunities for an acquaintance with the management of large business interests which will be of incalculable benefit to them in after years in controversies respecting the rights and obligations of owners of such interests.

The advantages of pursuing a course of law studies in a great commercial metropolis like Chicago are well worthy of consideration. There are almost constantly in session in Chicago the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, The United States District Court, a Court of Admiralty, three branches of the Illinois Appellate Court, the Cook County Circuit Court, the Cook County Superior Court, the Criminal Court of Cook County, the County Court of Cook County, the Probate Court of Cook County and the Municipal Court of Chicago, so it readily can be seen that suits calling for the application of almost every possible legal principle are constantly arising and being litigated in courts of Chicago, thus affording law students exceptional opportunities for observing litigation in actual progress. The classes of the school are held at such hours that full-time students may attend daily the morning sessions of the courts.

The college is in the immediate vicinity of the courts and the law offices, and part-time students are encouraged and assisted as far as possible in obtaining employment in such offices. Many members of the bar of Chicago are alumni of Chicago-Kent College of Law. This fact frequently aids part-time students in finding such employment and thereby in combining to a certain extent the traditional apprentice method of law study with law school attendance.

QUALIFICATIONS FOR ADMISSION

To be permitted to enter the applicant must first present evidence of having previously obtained not less than sixty semester hours of acceptable college credit other than legal, which must be so selected as to satisfy the faculty that the applicant has the proper foundation for the study of law. Prior to applying for admission the applicant must have the institutions previously attended send direct to the registrar transcripts showing his complete college record. In special instances other applicants not candidates for a degree, are admitted as special students on furnishing satisfactory proof of sufficient education to enable them successfully to pursue legal studies, provided the number of special students admitted in any year shall not exceed ten per cent of the average number of beginning law students admitted during each of the two preceding years.

Subject to faculty approval in each instance, students from approved law schools may be admitted to advanced standing, provided they are otherwise qualified, upon presentation of a satisfactory certificate showing the period of their attendance at such schools and their proficiency in studies there pursued. No such applicant, however, will be admitted to advanced standing who has been denied re-admission to another law school.

MODE OF INSTRUCTION

The chief aim of this school is to teach legal principles and to prepare for the actual practice of law. The course of study conforms to the standards of the Council of the Section of Legal Education of the American Bar Association, and to the requirements of the Supreme Court and the Board of Law Examiners of the State of Illinois.

Although special attention is given to Illinois practice, the course is designed to be sufficiently broad to prepare students for practice in other states. The case method is employed. There are also included exercises in drafting contracts, pleadings, and other legal documents, in the preparation of briefs, and in the conduct of causes in the practice courts.

Students are required to study and brief the cases included in the courses, and examinations, both oral and written, are given from time to time. Final examinations are required in all courses reasonably susceptible thereto.

The College also aims to acquaint its students with at least the rudiments of the legal skills and techniques needed by the practicing lawyer, such as the ability to conduct research and to express the results in written briefs, arguments and opinions. All students are required to take the course in Legal Bibliography and either Research I or II as directed. For the purpose of preparing the student convincingly to present his client's case, membership in the Junior Bar Association and participation in its moot court are encouraged. The course in Trials is required and provides laboratory training in introducing testimony and making and arguing objections. Practice I and Property IV provide laboratory training in drafting legal documents, examining titles and conveyancing.

SCHOLARSHIPS AND PRIZES

THOMAS A. MORAN SCHOLARSHIPS. In memory of the late HON. THOMAS A. MORAN, Dean of this college from 1896 to the year 1904, there are offered scholarship prizes to undergraduate students who, in the opinion of the faculty, are most proficient in scholarship and legal research. These scholarships are supported by the amount thereof fixed by the income realized from the fund contributed by former members of Judge Moran's classes, held by the trustees of the college, and known as the MORAN MEMORIAL FUND. The principal of this fund amounts to $4500.00.

EDMUND W. BURKE AWARDS. In memory of the late HON. EDMUND W. BURKE, Dean of the college from 1904 to the time of his death in the year 1918, members of his family have donated to the college a fund to be held by the trustees of the college, the income arising therefrom to be used perpetually in providing such scholarships as said trustees may deem suitable for students of the college who excel in oratory and debate. The principal of this fund amounts to $2000.00 and the income therefrom is now devoted each year to providing graduate scholarships and other awards for the member of the graduating classes of the previous year who, in the opinion of the faculty, while an undergraduate excelled in forensic ability, and for such other participants in debate as may be deemed worthy.

GENERAL GRADUATE SCHOLARSHIPS. The college offers graduate scholarships of varying amounts to members of the graduating classes of each school year who attain such high proficiency in undergraduate study as to cause them to be deemed by the faculty worthy of such award.

GRADUATE RESEARCH FELLOWSHIP. The college has established a graduate fellowship, with substantial stipend, for the benefit of such graduate student as may be selected by the faculty from time to time and who while holding such fellowship devotes his entire time to research under the direction of the faculty of the graduate school.

RAMSEY-BURKE SCHOLARSHIP. Certain legatees under the last will and testament of Jane Ramsey, deceased, late a resident of the City of Belvidere, County of Boone, in the state of Illinois, in memory of said deceased, donated to the college from their said legacies the sum of $2000.00, to be known as the RAMSEY-BURKE MEMORIAL FUND, the income therefrom to be devoted to the support of scholarships for such residents of said county of Boone as from time to time may be selected by a designated committee. CHICAGO-KENT LAW REVIEW

THE CHICAGO-KENT LAW REVIEW, was established over twenty-five years ago and is published quarterly. It is a legal periodical containing leading articles, discussions of recent decisions, notes and comments and book reviews. The section devoted to the discussion of recent decisions is composed of articles written by undergraduate students of high scholastic ability and by students in the graduate school. In preparation of such articles the student works under the supervision of a faculty member. No student is eligible for membership in the Honor Society unless he has prepared an acceptable study for the Law Review.

SOCIETY OF KENT HONOR MEN

This society is composed of senior students and alumni who have been elected thereto on the basis of scholastic ability and general attainment while undergraduates and who have each produced a law study which has been found worthy of publication in the CHICAGO-KENT LAW REVIEW.

CHICAGO-KENT BAR ASSOCIATION

CHICAGO-KENT BAR ASSOCIATION was organized in 1941 as a junior bar organization affiliated with the Illinois State Bar Association. Membership is open to all students and its officers are elected each year from the student body. The Bar Association cooperates with the parent state organization in its program of activities, including its inter-collegiate Moot Court Competition.

OTHER UNDERGRADUATE ORGANIZATIONS

There are several undergraduate student organizations, honorary or professional in character. The Roundtable of Chicago-Kent College of Law is an undergraduate honorary society whose members include students of high scholastic standing, both men and women, from all of the undergraduate classes.

There are chapters at the College of the following national professional fraternities:

Phi Delta Phi
Phi Alpha Delta
Delta Theta Phi

Kappa Beta Pi (Sorority)
Nu Beta Epsilon

The Interfraternity Council is composed of two members chosen by each of the foregoing chapters from their own members.

CHICAGO-KENT UNION was organized at the Fortieth Anniversary Luncheon and Homecoming held on June 9th, 1927. The Union consists of the alumni of Chicago-Kent College of Law, comprising graduates of the original Chicago College of Law, Kent College of Law, Western College of Law, Webster College of Law and of the other institutions merged and affiliated therewith, and the current trustees, faculty and student body of Chicago-Kent College of Law.

Under the direction of the trustees of the college, the governing body, the activities of the Union are carried on through class representatives on the Ways and Means Committee.

The purpose of the organization is to foster a closer relationship between the institution and its alumni and students, to provide opportunity for reunion of classes, and bring to the students the inspiration that comes from association with those who have attained the goal which they seek.

The entire tuition of each semester is payable in advance unless special arrangement is made with the treasurer.

A graduation fee of $15.00 will be charged.

No tuition fees will be refunded on account of inability to attend, but if an entire semester is lost students having paid tuition may attend without charge at a subsequent semester.
